

Larry Innes
Canadian Boreal Initiative

Executive Director

Website: www.Borealcanada.ca

Larry has extensive history in working with Aboriginal communities on land and resource issues. He has served as senior advisor to the Innu Nation in Labrador for over a decade. He provides legal, technical and strategic assistance to the Innu and to other Aboriginal communities dealing with governments and industries on forestry, mining, hydroelectricity and other resource developments. He has extensive experience as a negotiator on behalf of First Nations in advancing land claims and co-management agreements with government and impact-benefits agreements with industry. He has been involved in several major projects, including the Voisey's Bay mining development and the Lower Churchill hydroelectric project.

Larry holds a degree in law from the University of Victoria and master's degree in Environmental Studies from York University. He is called to the bar in the Provinces of Ontario and Newfoundland and Labrador, and practices as an associate with Olthuis, Kleer, Townshend, a Toronto firm specializing in Aboriginal and environmental law. He lives in Goose Bay, Labrador with his wife, two children and a retired sled dog.
