Protecting and restoring intact natural forest has been widely believed to be a key intention of REDD (Reducing Emissions from Deforestation and Forest Degradation). This was omitted from negotiating text and should be included.

Protecting natural forest is a simple, fast and cost-effective way to reduce carbon emissions and help protect the world from dangerous climate change.

By signing this pledge, you have promised to support inclusion of text for protecting intact natural forest and restoring degraded natural forest as a core objective of a REDD mechanism. This includes protecting the rights and interests of indigenous peoples and forest communities in such forests.

Thank you
